

DOMAINE ANDERSON®

DARRIN LOW

WINEMAKER

A native of California wine country, Darrin's fascination for wine began at an early age, growing up in Healdsburg and working in his parents' wine shop. This early exposure to the world of wine led Darrin to major in Enology and Viticulture at UC Santa Cruz, during which he studied abroad at l'Institut d'Œnologie in Bordeaux, France. After graduation, he followed his passion for pinot noir to Oregon's Willamette Valley, before returning home to make wine at J, Grgich Hills and Flowers.

A pinot noir and chardonnay specialist, Darrin is also an advocate for organic farming methods and biodynamic philosophy. He finds himself inspired to carry on his efforts at Domaine Anderson, the Louis Roederer family's newest estate property in the Anderson Valley.
